The Department of International and European Studies of the University of Piraeus invites applications for the postgraduate programme:

MSc Energy: Strategy, Law & Economics

A dynamic and innovative programme, fully taught in English, designed for individuals who aspire to understand and shape the future of energy.

Why this programme?

Energy is one of the most strategic and rapidly evolving sectors globally. This MSc is among the first in Southeast Europe to approach the energy sector holistically, combining:

- Strategy
- Law
- Economics
- International Relations

The programme aims to prepare a new generation of professionals with a strong interdisciplinary background and a solid understanding of global energy markets.

What you will gain

The programme combines academic excellence with practical insight, covering the full spectrum of the energy industry:

- ✓ Energy strategy & policy
- ✓ Energy law & regulatory frameworks
- ✓ Energy economics
- ✓ Technical aspects of production and extraction
- ✓ Links to related sectors (shipping, public administration, international organizations)

Teaching is delivered by:

- Distinguished academics
- Internationally recognized industry experts

A learning experience that stands out

The programme emphasizes a modern, hands-on learning approach through:

- Lectures and specialized seminars
- Participation in conferences
- Study visits to energy facilities (refineries, LNG terminals, etc.)
- Case studies and real-world business projects

Programme Structure

- Duration: 2 semesters of coursework + Master's thesis (summer period)
- Courses: 4 per semester (with elective options)
- Start date: Autumn 2026
- Schedule: Wednesday & Friday afternoons (online) and Saturdays (in person)

Who should apply?

This programme is ideal for:

- Graduates seeking specialization in the energy sector
- Professionals aiming to advance their careers in a fast-growing field
- Individuals pursuing careers in:
 - Energy companies
 - International organizations
 - Consulting & law firms
 - Public and regulatory authorities

Career Prospects
